MILITARY ACTIVITY IN MEXICO

May Be Augmented If Felix Diaz Starts Another Revolution

THE MEXICAN SITUATION

Discussed With the Senate Foreign Relations Committee in Washington.

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM)
Washington, March 4.—Pedro Del Villar and Cecilio Ocon, who said they represented Felix Diaz, talked in private with the Senate foreign relations committee today about the Mexican situation. It was learned afterwards that they told the senators Felix Diaz was thinking of some military activity in Mexico and they wanted to know what would be the position of the United States toward recognizing Diaz if he should start a revolution.

The senators told them the United States would give no assurances whatever to any prospective revolution. The Mexicans were taken before the committee by Senator Fall. The committee also heard Boaz W. Long, chief of the bureau of Latin-American affairs of the state department, who brought many communications of the department regarding Mexico.

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM)
Washington, March 4.—General Carranza's announcement that he had appointed a special committee to investigate the recent execution by General Villa of William S. Benton, a British subject, coupled with the declaration from Great Britain that she would not look to the United States for action as a result of the incident, was generally accepted today as meaning the abandonment of the expedition of American and British representatives who were to have gone to Chihuahua to examine Benton's body. There is every reason to believe that Great Britain has closed the Benton case for the present, though she has reserved the right to exact reparation in the future. England's withdrawal at this time and Carranza's determination to investigate the Benton killing on his own accord will put the United States, it is believed, in the position of a patient observer of developments with no present necessity for further inquiry into the Benton episode.

The decision of Carranza to ferret out the truth of the Benton execution will mean a test of his authority over General Villa, according to many officials here, and will further demonstrate whether the constitutionalists intend to afford protection to foreigners and make reparation for injury done them.

One of the reasons why there is little tendency to press the inquiry on the part of the United States or Great Britain is the fact that Benton's body already has decomposed considerably and evidence of a conclusive character as yet undisclosed has been in the hands of officials for several days.

Next steps in the situation seems to depend on General Carranza. His declaration that the United States has no right to inquire about the welfare of any foreign subjects but her own will not be accepted by the Washington government. Carranza's friends here were hopeful today that he would eventually alter his position on this point and reveal a friendly attitude toward the United States.

While pressure that has been expected from Great Britain over the Benton case has been removed, the American government is much concerned over the reported murder of Gustav Baugh and Clemente Vergara, both American citizens, the one by constitutionalists and the other by Mexican federalists. Demands for information in each case have gone forth from the state department. It is expected also messages will be presented by American consular agents to General Carranza making representations on behalf of Spanish subjects George C. Carothers is expected to discuss this with General Carranza today on behalf of the state department.

LONDON PAPERS COMMENT ON THE BENTON AFFAIR

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM)
London, March 4.—The Mexican situation and Sir Edward Grey's pronouncement of the views of the British government in regard to the investigation into the death of William S. Benton, are the subject of much comment in today's newspapers. The Pall Mall Gazette says:

"The temperate and restrained language in which Sir Edward Grey referred to the Mexican murder will have the approval of all Englishmen. Its moderation, however, will not disguise the depth of their feeling. 'Patience' makes every concession to Sir Edward Grey's difficulties but if there is any danger of that patience being mistaken for indifference it

Brand Whitlock, New Minister to Belgium.

A civil reformer, the son of a preacher and affiliated with men of the cloth, Brand Whitlock, Toledo newspaper reporter, book writer, mayor and all round asset of good government, has taken charge of his new post in Belgium. Whitlock likes his diplomatic change of scene, though his heavy work has been in forcing the simple life in state politics. He was a political correspondent on a Chicago paper, a writer of essays and poems and short stories but the great achievement to which his mind harks back was the forcing of the initiative

Hundreds of New Contestants

In the past three days hundreds of people have entered the Advocate Booklovers' contest. Many of them are residents of Newark, others live in the country, in nearby towns or in adjoining counties. In nearly every instance they are people who have learned of the interest their friends are taking in the Advocate contest, they have found that the solution of the pictures affords pleasure as well as profit. You are at no disadvantage if you did not begin when the first picture appeared. All you have to do is to come or send to this office for the back coupons. In just a little while you will catch up with the procession. See the list of 136 beautiful prizes. They are worth $3,846. They are all free to Advocate readers. If you aren't now in the contest, get in, admission is free and get your share of the big awards. Dr. W. G. Corne, the dentist, today received a check from a Cleveland paper being his prize in a similar contest recently finished. Dr. Corne had 74 of 77 pictures answered correctly. He got $15. The first three winners had 76 of 77 correct. In the Cleveland contest however each contestant was allowed 10 answers to each picture. In the Advocate contest each person may give not more than five answers to each picture. Read the easy rules on page 2. Better start now.

would introduce an element of grave disadvantage to international politics. "Every reason of moral and international right requires of the United States that the punishment of Benton's murderers shall be undertaken without delay. At the present moment civilization stands flouted and Great Britain outraged. The application of the Monroe Doctrine is paralyzed and mocked."

The Globe says: "Sir Edward Grey said much to emphasize the gravity of recent events and very little to relieve the disquietude which these events have inevitably provoked. The public opinion of this country, however, sympathetic to the United States, will not make considerations for the embarrassment of President Wilson and adequate excuse for acquiescing in such deeds as those of which Pancho Villa with the approval of Venustiano Carranza has been guilty. If President Wilson cannot be held responsible for the behavior of the Mexican insurrectionists his policy is directly responsible for the state of things which has led to intolerable excesses. What the United States has done is not merely to allow civil war to persist but to foment it by allowing arms and ammunition to be supplied to the belligerents. "The United States is bound to exert that predominant and exclusive influence which it claims for putting an end to things which have become a danger not merely to the United States itself but to the civilized world."

LETCHER GETS ORDERS FROM WASHINGTON

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM)
El Paso, Texas, March 4.—Although word had been received from Nogales, Sonora, that General Carranza had appointed a special commission to investigate the recent execution by General Villa of William S. Benton, a British subject, the American and British representatives who were ordered to examine Benton's body at Chihuahua continued today to await definite instructions from the state department at Washington.

In view of General Carranza's action the commissioners expected that the state department would order them to abandon the trip to Chihuahua. Marion Letcher, American consul at Chihuahua, who had expected to accompany the commissioners on the trip remained here today on orders from Washington.

MALATO'S SCATHING ARGUMENT

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM)
Chicago, March 4.—"A vile coward who killed his wife and made his children motherless and then attempted to blacken her character to save his wretched life." As Prosecutor Malato uttered these words of denunciation of William Cheney Ellis in his opening argument to the jury today Ellis, on trial for the murder of his wife, swayed in his chair and had to be supported. "Look," exclaimed Malato, "Ellis gets a glass of water and has someone to lift him up, but he gave his wife no water while she lay there shot four times and with her throat gashed. If he receives the death penalty at your hands he will have a chance to make his peace with the Almighty. He gave his wife none."

MANSFIELD MAN BEATEN AND ROBBED BY LIMA THUGS

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM)
Lima, O., March 4.—Three men beat and robbed Daniel Cave of Mansfield, brother of J. H. Cave, a local business man, in a South Main street holdup late last night. All three escaped. Cave told the police he believed the men were foreigners. No further clue to their identity was secured. Cave had come to Lima from Mansfield to visit his brother. The three men leaped upon Cave from behind, bearing him to the ground. One of the men muffled his cries with his hand while the other two held him down and searched him. In his pockets they found $200 in money and two razors. When they had searched him one of the men grabbed his hat from his hand and other grabbed the suit case he carried and the trio fled. The men had flourished no weapons.

RECKONING OF DAMAGE BY STORMS

Shows That Traffic, Shipping and Communication Suffered Most

STREET WORK COSTLY

Two Million and a Half Dollars Spent for This Purpose in New York.

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM)
New York, March 4.—Fair weather and thousands of snow shovellers combined today to bring about almost normal conditions of transportation and wire communication between New York and the rest of the country. Railroads whose telegraph service was topped reported that all wires were being repaired rapidly and regular trains were being resumed. Practically all of the lost trains on the Jersey Central, the Pennsylvania, and New York Central lines had been found early today. In New Jersey, where the force of Saturday and Sunday's storm did the most damage, large forces of linemen began gathering up the tangled telegraph and telephone wires, more than 800 miles being still down, together with 1,000 poles.

Milk trains, which bring in the larger part of the milk consumed in the greater city, began running on slightly delayed schedules and perishable fruit long delayed in drifts is being rushed to markets here. It was believed that deliveries today would cause a tumble in the price of eggs, which the storm caused to soar to fifty cents a dozen yesterday.

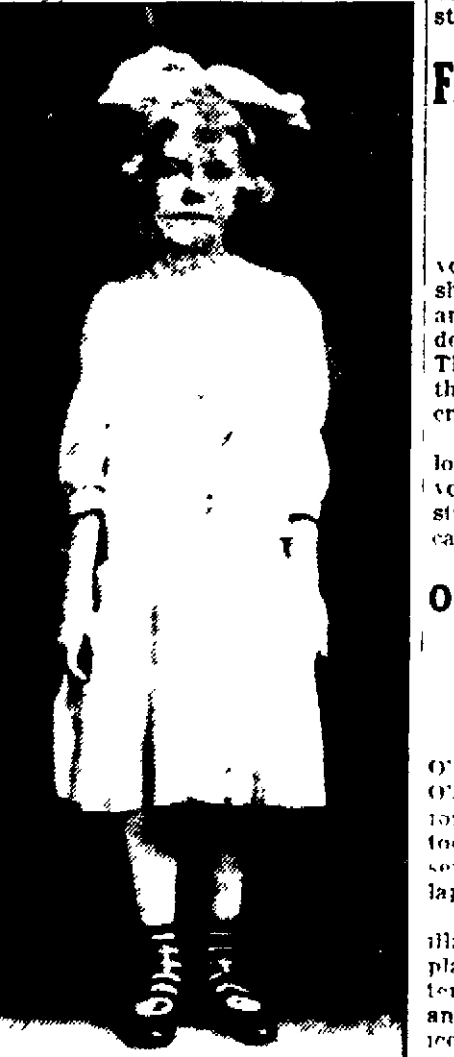

Shipping is still hindered by an almost solid mass of ice in the harbor and arriving trans-Atlantic and coastwise steamers are reaching their piers with difficulty. The snow continued to melt today, making easier the task of clearing the streets, many residential sections having been practically blocked since February 13.

The street cleaning department hoped to repeat yesterday's performance when 121,386 cubic yards of snow was removed. A total of 20,687 men and 2,671 trucks were employed in the work. The city's snow removal bill this winter will aggregate about $2,500,000.

CHILD'S TRIP TO FAIRMOUNT IS UNSOLVED

How Romaine Birkey, aged ten, managed to reach Fairmount, W. Va., where she was located late Tuesday after a prolonged search in which police and rural mail carriers assisted, was as much of a mystery as ever, Wednesday.

The Birkey family had received no word up to late Wednesday, beyond the meager telegram from Chauncey

One Year Ago Today Pres. Wilson Took The Oath Of Office

Close Co-operation Has Reigned Between Chief Executive and the Leaders of His Party and Much Important Legislation Has Been Enacted

CONGRESS IN ALMOST CONTINUOUS SESSION

Five Times President Has Appeared Before Congress and Read His Messages and Sixth Will Be Delivered Tomorrow in Which He Will Advocate Repeal of Clause Exempting American Coastwise Shipping From Payment of Panama Canal Tolls.

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM)
Washington, March 4.—The Democratic administration was a year old today. Just twelve months ago at noon, Woodrow Wilson stood on the east front of the capitol and took the oath of office, ushering the Democracy into control of all branches of the national government for the first time in twenty years.

At the White House, in executive quarters generally and in congressional circles the day served to recall the work of the fleeting year. Members of congress realized that except for a short breathing spell at the Christmas holidays they had been in practically continuous session. From the time the President broke a century old precedent and stood before an assembled congress to urge the enactment of a low tariff, close co-operation has reigned between the chief executive and the leaders of the dominant party in congress. The enactment of a tariff law on October 3, 1913, making vital changes in the duties on imports was followed by the signing of a banking and currency act on December 23, 1913. These two laws and the recent ratification of the arbitration treaties are the things which the President's friends were pointing to as the direct result of intimate contact established between the executive and legislative departments of the government.

Much of the President's time and energy have been spent in wrestling with a troublesome Mexican situation as yet unsolved, and the diplomatic angle with Japan growing out of the passage by California of a new anti-alien land law. Later he has been devoting himself to a rehabilitation of the foreign relations of the United States—the drafting with Secretary of State Bryan of new peace treaties, the settlement of the Panama canal tolls controversy with Great Britain, difficulties with Columbia growing out of the partition of Panama, and many other subjects of foreign policy. Five times the President has appeared before congress, delivering messages on the tariff, the currency, Mexican affairs, the annual report on the "state of the union" and trust legislation. The recommendations of his annual messages for the building of an Alaskan railway, rural credits, and anti-trust reform are still in the hands of congress with assurances of the leaders that they will be made law before the expected adjournment in June. Interest in the President's sixth message was apparent when it became known he would address congress tomorrow in advocacy of the repeal of the clause exempting American coastwise shipping from the payment of Panama canal tolls. The chief executive for the first time asks congress, particularly his own party, to reverse itself, but his argument is that when congress last passed on the question international circumstances such as now surround the question did not then exist. The President believes a general distrust of the intentions of the United States in constructing treaties for its own selfish benefit has arisen and because of the doubt existing on the interpretation of the Hay-Pauncefote treaty, he urges the repeal of the much debated provision. The message tomorrow will be the shortest of all. It is said to be less than 500 words long. All of Mr. Wilson's addresses have been brief as compared with those of his predecessors.

Washington residents of many years to whom the ways and manners of a president have been a matter of intimate observation have watched President Wilson with interest. He has broken many precedents—his ways have been quite informal but of the most conspicuous characteristic of all is his disinclination to make speeches. He has declined hundreds of invitations to functions in all parts of the country. He has attended ed but one public banquet—last night's ceremony of the National Geographic society when George W. Goethals was presented with a gold medal by Mr. Wilson on behalf of the society. His only other speeches were made to the American Red Cross last December and one to the Daughters of the American Revolution. His trips out of Washington have been few. While congress has been in session, the President has made it a point to be at his desk continually. Mr. Wilson appeared with a uniform aide only at military or navy functions and the motorcycles which used to precede the President's motor have been substituted by an automobile with secret service men who follow inconspicuously behind so that the President drives about Washington attracting but little attention.

MEETING OF THE LICKING COUNTY DEMOCRATIC CLUB

The Licking County Democratic Club will hold an important meeting at its rooms, 34 1/2 South Third street Friday evening, March 6. All members are urgently requested to be present, as several matters of special importance will come up for action.

CLAIMS HORSE WAS ATTACKED BY RATS

In applying to Mayor Bigbee for permission to circulate a subscription paper to obtain funds for the purchase of another horse, a man giving his name as Dush related a horrifying story of the death of the animal he wishes to replace. He asserts that his horse was attacked and killed by rats while it occupied a stall in the barn in the rear of his Jackson street home. Mr. Dush told the mayor that the rats had attacked the horse on previous occasions, eating away portions of its hoofs. He applied a preparation which stopped the attack from this quarter, but he states that while the animal was sleeping Monday night, it was again attacked and that the rats cut the animal's throat, causing its death.

NEWS DELAYED OF BAD WRECK

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM)
New York, March 4.—As an indication of the isolation of certain New York state points during the recent storm it remained for a resident of Port Jervis, reaching here today, to give the first news of a bad wreck on the Ontario and Western railroad there at noon yesterday. Fourteen persons were seriously injured and property worth $100,000 destroyed.

LEGGE CASE ATTRACTING BIG CROWDS

With the court and jury occupied listening chiefly to expert testimony on the fatal illness and autopsy of Helen McAndrews, alleged victim of an illegal surgical operation, and spectators crowding the portion of the room outside the railing the trial of Dr. C. F. Legge proceeded slowly Wednesday, yet the state concluded its testimony. During the forenoon only two witnesses were examined, Dr. H. J. Davis and Mrs. McAndrews, mother of the dead girl. The prosecution sprung a surprise at the noon adjournment with Prosecutor Jones' statement that the state had finished.

St. Petersburg, March 4.—Captain von Stahl, chief of works at the shrapnel tube factory of the Rutiloff armaments works, was brutally murdered today by one of the foremen. The murderer then threw himself into the electrical machinery and was crushed to death. There has been a strike at the Rutiloff works for some days and Captain von Stahl's attitude towards the strikers is supposed to have been the cause of the tragedy.

Advocate Booklovers' Contest Prize Picture

WHAT BOOK IS MEANT BY THIS PICTURE?

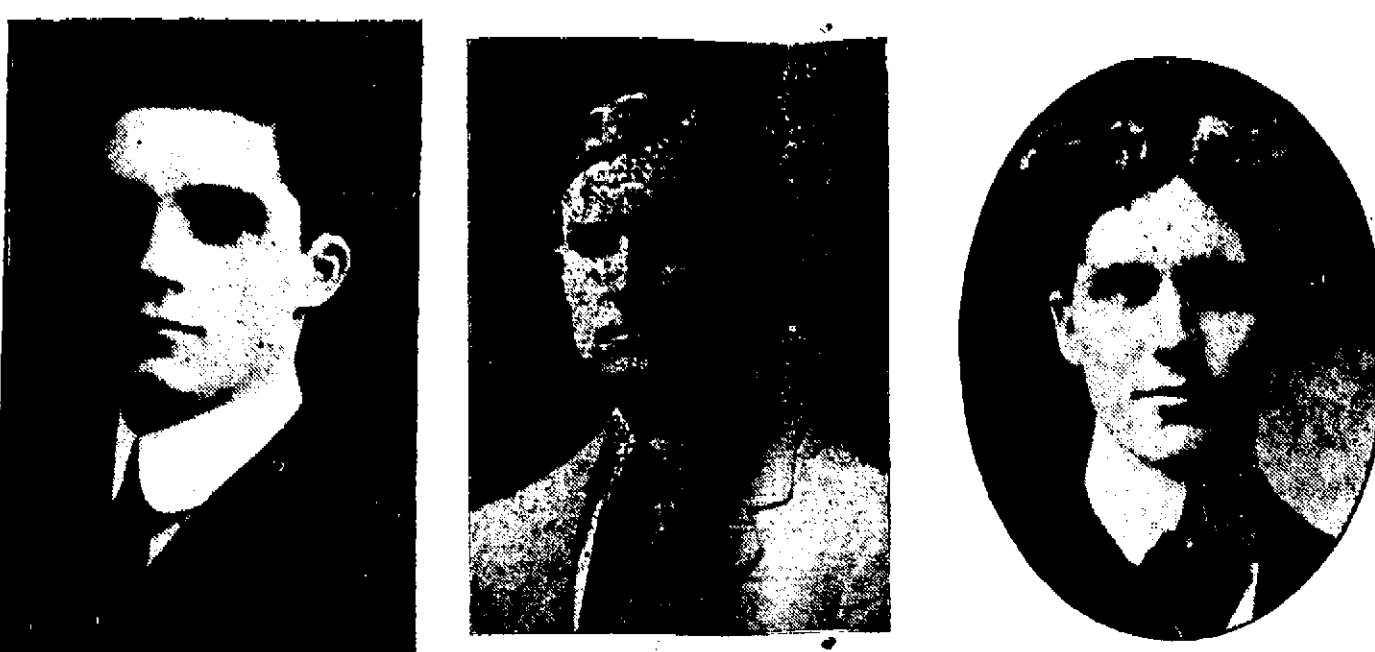

Coupon No. 20. Newark Advocate Booklovers' Contest. Title, Author, My Name, My Address. (20) MARCH 4, 1914. (20)

Clip out your coupons neatly, and fill them out clearly and plainly, remembering that in the event of a tie for any prize between two or more contestants, neatness and clear writing will win the judges' favor. The picture is to be a part of the coupon. Do not detach the coupon from the picture. Send no answers whatever to the Advocate until the contest is ended by the publication of Picture No. 70. Any answers received before that time will be destroyed and will not be counted. Read the rules carefully.

Rules of the Booklovers' Contest.

Any person may compete in this contest who lives either in Licking, Delaware, Knox, Coshocton, Muskingum, Perry, Fairfield or Franklin counties, Ohio, except employees of the Advocate or members of their families. Answers to the picture must be written upon the coupon blank which will be printed every day with each picture during the seventy publication days the contest will last. Both picture and blank must be clipped from the paper, and the blank properly filled in with the name of book and the author's name together with the name and address of the contestant written clearly and plainly in the space provided. Not more than one person's name may be written on any coupon. Each picture will represent the title of only one book, but there may be some pictures that suggest the title of several books. For the benefit of contestants, and to allow for this variety of solution, any contestant may give as many as five answers to any picture, at will; but not more than one solution may be written on any coupon. If the contestant gives two answers as likely to include the correct one, two coupons must be used; if three answers, three coupons, and so on. In each instance, whether the contestant gives one answer or five answers to any picture, both the pictures and coupon must be used for each of the answers; and not more than five answers to any picture will be permitted. If any one of the five answers that may be given to any picture is correct, the contestant will be credited for the correct solution and will not have the incorrect ones counted against his or her chances. Prizes will be awarded to every contestant, by the Contest Judges, who sends in the largest number of correct answers upon the smallest number of coupons. Thus, if a contestant gives the correct answers to 70 of the pictures and uses only 70 coupons, that contestant will rate higher in the prize awards than one who uses 140 coupons or any higher number up to 350 for supplying the 70 correct answers. If two or more persons, supplying the same number of correct answers, have used the same number of coupons for their answers, the highest rating will be given to the one whose answers are most neatly prepared, in the opinion of the Judges. No contestant will be allowed to submit more than one set of answers, which must include not less than 70 or more than 350 coupons, with accompanying pictures. Positively no solution may be sent in to the Contest Editor until every one of the seventy pictures has been printed. Answers in complete sets, as just specified above, will then be received in this office, and should be addressed to "Contest Editor," Booklovers' Contest, Advocate, Newark, Ohio. R. L. RHOADS, Secretary. F. S. NEIGHBOR, Delegate to Grand Lodge. W. B. SARGENT, Inner Guard.

Scott; Esteemed Leading Knight, James R. Cooper; Esteemed Loyal Knight, Walter K. Daugherty; Esteemed Lecturing Knight, J. M. Ankele; Secretary, R. L. Rhoads; Treasurer, W. W. Gard; Tyler, Charles Allen; Delegate to Grand Lodge, F. S. Neighbor; Alternate J. F. Cherry. After the election a social hour followed a splendid luncheon being served in the banquet hall by Stewart Col. Wm. Hohl who was certainly at his best and the tempting viands which he prepared were greatly enjoyed by the two hundred Elks present. In fact he was the recipient of so many individual compliments that he stated he would fortify himself with a secretary the next time he was called upon to serve in a similar capacity. The new Exalted Ruler, Fletcher S. Scott is at present a Justice of the Peace of Newark township. He is one of the best known young men of the city, a hustler in lodge affairs and he will give to his new office all his energies towards maintaining the high efficiency for all things undertaken by the Newark lodge of Elks. The other officers are also well known and with the exception of Mr. Ankele have previously served in office. The latter is the Esteemed Lecturing Knight, taking one of the chairs for the first time. Under the administration of the above officers a successful year certainly is in store for the Newark Elks. The building of the new home will be pushed and many projects in contemplation will be worked out. No. 391 is to be congratulated on its hustling and efficient corps of officers. During the business session of the members resolutions were introduced and adopted thanking all those merchants who so generously patronized the program of the Elk minstrel. They were given a unanimous vote of thanks as was also the Munson Music company for favors extended and all non-Elks who participated in the show.

TAX DODGERS MUST COMPLY WITH THE LAW

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM) Columbus, March 1.—Vigorous prosecution of those who incite tax dodging as well as those who dodge taxes is to be vigorously pursued by the tax commission. A procedure calculated to bring the refractory persons to comply with the law was outlined by the state commission today and district assessors will be informed of its provisions. In response to information from Charles H. Dale, district assessor of Miami county, the commission mailed him a letter offering assistance to help enforce provisions of the new tax law. Two of Dale's deputies have made affidavit that they have been hindered in the work of listing personal property by efforts to incite tax dodging. James George, one of Dale's deputies, swore to a statement that the cashier of a Piqua financial institution had told a tax payer that he had not returned money he had in the bank and did not intend to do so. George said this statement was made to influence the taxpayer not to return his money. Perry Thompson, another of Dale's deputies, made oath that a banker, whose name the tax commission withheld, had advised tax payers in Piqua not to return their money in bank for taxation. The state tax commission today notified Dale that he had power to subpoena any person or officer of a financial institution to testify as to any particular account or transaction of any person through such an institution. If the person subpoenaed fails to respond the tax commission said prosecution for contempt could follow. "We respectfully urge that you proceed in this matter immediately, after first having requested your prosecuting attorney to assist you," reads the letter of the tax commission to Mr. Dale. "If there is a concerted effort among certain persons in Piqua, in any other community in this state or in any other locality in this state, to prevent the attorney general to proceed to the county wherein such movement may be in force and request the calling of a special grand jury to the end that those making false returns or committing perjury as to tax returns shall be dealt with at the earliest possible time."

THREE MEMBERS OF SCHOOL BOARD ATTEND MEETING

A regular session of education was devoted to discussion of the requirements of the new law and a decision of the supreme court, which was issued in 1912. A resolution is made when the school board is organized. The members of the board present were President Christian, Acting Clerk, and member William E. M... Bills totaling $900 were allowed, to which was added later the final settlement of $232 of the Roedel company of Zanesville, on its electric wiring contract. The Reinhold plumbing concern of Newark was awarded the plumbing contract for construction of sewer connections at the Riverside building. In considering the plumbing matter, members took under consideration means of conserving the water supply and reducing water bills. The system adopted sometime ago in Cleveland was cited. In the Forest City the school directors allow two cubic feet of water monthly for each individual in a room or school building, and the result has been a material reduction of water waste. It was determined by the board to start liquidating its oldest obligations first. Approximately $10,000 was reported on hand, out of which must come the bills allowed in Tuesday night's meeting. After this deduction it was decided the clerk should begin payment of some of the oldest of the board's outstanding notes. The clerk was authorized to receive bids from prospective depositors for the board's funds, in compliance with law. By resolution, the president and clerk were instructed to sign the school bonds recently sold, when they shall have been duly approved. A VALUABLE SUGGESTION

IMPORTANT TO EVERYONE

It is now conceded by physicians that the kidneys should have more attention as they control the other organs to a remarkable degree and do a tremendous amount of work in removing the poisons and waste matter from the system by filtering the blood.

During the winter months especially, when we live in indoor life, the kidneys should receive some assistance when needed, as we take less exercise, drink less water and often eat more rich heavy food, thereby forcing the kidneys to do more work than Nature intended. Evidence of kidney trouble, such as lame back, annoying bladder troubles, smarting or burning, brick-dust or sediment, sallow complexion, rheumatism, may be weak or irregular heart action warns you that your kidneys require help immediately to avoid more serious trouble.

Many physicians claim that an herbal medicine containing no minerals or opiates has the most healing influence. An ideal herbal compound that has had most remarkable success as a kidney and bladder remedy is Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root. You may receive a sample bottle of Swamp-Root by Parcel Post. Address Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., and enclose ten cents; also mention the Newark Daily Advocate.

SAGE TEA TURNS GRAY HAIR DARK

It's Grandmother's recipe to bring color, lustre and thickness to hair when faded, streaked or gray.

That beautiful, even shade of dark, glossy hair can only be had by brewing a mixture of Sage Tea and Sulphur. Your hair is your charm. It makes or mars the face. When it fades, turns gray, streaked and looks dry, wispy and scraggly, just an application or two of Sage and Sulphur enhances its appearance a hundred-fold.

Don't bother to prepare the tonic; you can get from any drug store a 50 cent bottle of "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy," ready to use. This can always be depended upon to bring back the natural hair and remove dandruff, stop scalp itching and falling hair.

Everybody uses "Wyeth's" Sage and Sulphur because it darkens so naturally and evenly that nobody can tell it has been applied. You simply dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through the hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning the gray hair has disappeared, and after another application it becomes beautifully dark and appears glossy, lustrous and abundant. DR. W. G. CORNE
WINS CASH PRIZE
IN THIS CONTEST

Dr. W. G. Corne, the Church street dentist, received a check for $15 to-day from a Cleveland newspaper, being his prize in the Cleveland Book-lovers' contest recently conducted. Dr. Corne had 71 out of 77 answers correct. The man who got first prize $1,000, had 76 of 77 correct. The ones who got second and third prizes each had 76 of 77 right, but each submitted a large number of answers to the pictures.

It should be noted that in the Cleveland contest each contestant was entitled to offer ten solutions for each picture. This, of course, accounts for the fact that all of the winners had correct answers to nearly all of the pictures. In the Advocate contest each person may submit not more than five answers for each picture. In the Cleveland contest the prizes amounted to $5,000. The Advocate's prizes are $3,846, only $1,154 less than Cleveland. The Advocate list is the largest and best ever offered by a newspaper in a city of 30,000 people. It is worth noting also that the Advocate contest is limited to eight counties which reduces the number of contestants. Hundreds of people have entered this contest this week. It is not too late. The prizes are free—136 of them. Begin today.

LITTLE TOT LOST FROM MOTHER WAS FOUND ON STREET

Police thought they were about to face another search for a missing child, Tuesday, when an anxious Granville mother rushed to headquarters in search of her four-year-old child. About the same time Miss Grace Egan, bookkeeper in the Licking laundry, discovered the lost child crying in the street.

The youngster was taken into the Wolfe residence, in apartments over the Weiant bakery, where efforts to learn her name proved futile, until police learned a description of the child, when Patrolman Ed. Hurlbaugh and the tot's mother visited the Wolfe home. The little one was Eleanor Lake of Granville. The family formerly lived in Newark, and the little girl escaped from her mother while the latter was on a shopping tour. Juvenile court authorities were notified and Probation Officer Dwyer had started a search for the tot when she was found.

Mrs. Grace A. Leathe owns more St. Louis real estate than any other woman in that city, but had to borrow $100,000 recently as she claims she is land poor.

Miss Kate Penner and Gertrude Ponder, English nurses connected with the Constantinople hospital, have been given Red Cross medals by the German emperor for gallant service during the Balkan war.

MANY REPORTS OF
LOST CHILDREN
GIVEN TO POLICE

Following the widespread publicity given the disappearance of Romaine Birkey, 10, daughter of Robert Birkey, Newark parents seemed to be panic-stricken when their children were out of sight for a brief period. No less than four reports of lost children were received at police headquarters Tuesday.

Dwight Guy of 260 Eddy street, grandson of Letter Carrier D. M. Guy, was reported lost but was found an hour later. Phillip Daley of 262 Eddy street was also reported lost but turned up all right in a short time after the matter was reported to the police. Another child named Lake disappeared and caused its parents some alarm until it was found and Mrs. Rose Wolf found a three-year-old girl on the street crying for its mother. It was taken to police headquarters and Patrolman Hurlbaugh reported that he found its mother and the two were reunited through the efforts of the police department.

REGARDED NEWARK
AS AN EASY MARK

John Carney, 26, claiming New York as his residence when he is at home was picked up again Tuesday afternoon by Patrolmen Abbott and Gorman on a charge of begging and being drunk. He was given a suspended fine and workhouse sentence when arraigned in police court Monday, agreeing to leave town. He told the officers that Newark was too easy for his business, to leave until he had worked it thoroughly. Mayor Bigbee told Carney that he would have to remain in jail here until a fine of $5 and costs was served out and that immediately thereafter he would be sent to the Columbus workhouse on the suspended sentence of $25 and costs.

Good Looks
Good Health

AMBITION SALTS—that's the answer. Some of you ladies who read this may have complexion disfigured by liver spots and discolorations. If this is the case, don't worry about it and don't use face lotions. Just go at once to T. J. Evans and get a large bottle of Wendell's AMBITION SALTS, for only fifty cents. It will clear your complexion by driving from your system the poisonous uric acid that is affecting your liver, stomach, blood and kidneys. A poor, rough, mottled skin isn't due to the sun or weather, but to an upset condition which uric acid always causes. Go to the root of the trouble. Destroy that and your good looks and health will return.

Wendell's AMBITION SALTS is a wonderful remedy for indigestion, headache, rheumatism, malaria, nervousness, kidney troubles—all caused by uric acid poison.

Remember, AMBITION SALTS is guaranteed by T. J. Evans and dealers everywhere. It is pleasant to take, acts quickly, and you can get your money back if it isn't just what we claim Wendell's Ambition Salts Co., Syracuse, N. Y., proprietors.

Judge Grosscup Would Limit Earnings of Large Corporations

"I believe the best remedy for trusts is to limit the private profits of corporations," said Judge Grosscup of Chicago, when he was asked for his opinion on trusts in the United States. The judge is taking a vacation in Europe, where he has enjoyed himself greatly. "Surplus not earnings of these corporations ought to go to the people in the form of taxes."

"That plan could be enforced automatically. I believe it would tend to cheapen products as well as maintain wages at a high level. What is of great consequence, it would prevent the growth of corporate power to dangerous proportions."

Scottish and Smart.

John Clerk, Lord Eldon, was of a very comical disposition. Once the author of "Law and Laughter," after a banquet club dinner, "where wit and wine contended for the mastery," tumbled heavily downstairs on the way to his carriage and broke his nose. When he reappeared in public, looking somewhat odd about the face, some one asked how the accident happened. He said it was the effect of his studies. "Studies," ejaculated the inquirer, "yes, indeed, about 'Coke Upon Littleton' but I suppose you never before heard of 'Coke Upon Stairs'?"

There is a Great Difference in Tobaccos

Tuxedo is the Mildest, Sweetest, Most Pleasant Smoke in the World, Because—

First—No one but the makers of Tuxedo is willing to spend the money necessary to buy the mildest, choicest, most thoroughly aged, selected Burley tobacco.

Second—No one but the makers of Tuxedo knows how to treat this Burley tobacco so that every bit of pleasantness and goodness remains in the tobacco and every bit of unpleasantness and harshness is taken out.

Tuxedo

The Perfect Tobacco for Pipe and Cigarette

Tuxedo was born in 1904. Its first imitator appeared two years later. Since then a host of imitations have been born, and are clamoring for your patronage.

No imitation is ever as good as the original. No amount of advertising, no amount of bluster and bluff, can ever make an imitation tobacco as good as Tuxedo.

If you are not a pipe smoker, you are denying yourself the greatest smoking pleasure known to man. One week of Tuxedo will give you more enjoyment than you have ever had—and at the end of the week your nerves will be better and your general health will have improved. Try Tuxedo this week!

Knocking On The Door.

To me all knocking at a closed door is fraught with the tragic, an imperative summons to open to the unknown; to suspend for the time the present action or conversation to make way for that which may not be denied. I have observed, with myself particularly, when in a room alone that a sudden knocking at the door, coming without previous warning as to who might wish admittance, suspends as if in mid-air the thought or act upon which I am engaged. A feeling of vague apprehension possesses me, a momentary wonderment at the sudden and unexpected interruption of thought. And I have observed, too, when in a room with others, that at a knocking at the door all will turn toward it, suspending action, leaving the speech uncompleted, with a strained expression in their eyes, as if fearing something disastrous, while the shadow of silence will fall upon us until the door is opened and the cause of the unknown summons discovered. Though the shadow of silence in such an instance is of such short duration and may fall so lightly upon some that it may be unperceived, to me it is none the less real—Atlantic.

The Trick of Ski Jumping.

The art of ski jumping is not so easy as it looks before trying, nor so hard to learn as it might appear after the first attempt. At the start, or takeoff, come down as though you were coasting on the ski, then at the moment of the takeoff bend the body well forward from the hips and throw as much of the weight as possible into the knees. As you leave the edge of the jump straighten quickly at the hips and secure as much as possible the effect of jumping straight out into the air. While in the air hold the arms as still as possible in the position that best preserves the balance, keep the ski points slightly down, as near as possible parallel with the slope of the hill. The body should be perpendicular to the slope and the skis kept well together. On landing advance one ski as far as possible without upsetting, bending the knee of the leg that is advanced. Keep the skis together and parallel. The rest is practice and more practice.—Outing.

Noncommittal.

A certain chap named James was never known to take a decided stand on any question. With a view to trapping him into committing himself two friends went into James' office one day and started to talk about a buffalo eating grapes. "Some people may think that a buffalo doesn't eat grapes," remarked one of the friends, "but when I was in the west a few years ago I saw one of them climb twenty feet into a tree to pluck off a bunch of the luscious fruit." "A buffalo climb a tree?" incredulously exclaimed the other. "Who ever heard of such a thing?" Say, Jim," he continued, turning to the noncommittal one, "what do you think of a preposterous statement like this?" "Why, I hardly know," was the calm rejoinder of James, "but there's no telling what a buffalo might do when he wants grapes."—Exchange.

Wisdom from Washington

By ARTHUR W. DUNN.
Washington, March 3. [Special.]—A man with a taste for figures has been going over the returns on congressmen who were elected in 1912 and has found by adding the Progressive vote to the Republican vote that such results bring about a Republican instead of a Democratic congress. Therefore the great Democratic majority at the present time, according to his figures is due to the fact that Progressives were candidates in so many districts. By this same token he has shown that if the Republicans would simply get together and the Progressives withdraw from the various contests in different congressional districts there is no doubt about the election of a Republican congress this fall. I think this man said "If." And that seems to be the greatest trouble. "If" the Progressives would come back to the Republican party the Republicans could win "If" all the Progressives had voted for Mr. Taft in the last presidential election he would now be president instead of Mr. Wilson. As our old friend Bill Shakespeare used to say, "Much virtue in 'If'."

Withholding at the Source.

Paymasters in the house and senate have had considerable trouble during the past week over certain features of the income tax law, which compels men who pay out money to "withhold the income at the source." The more the law is studied the more difficult it becomes to understand, and senators and representatives became rather indignant when these paying clerks, their employees, insisted upon knowing all about other sources of income which these lawmakers have.

John Barrett's Discovery.

John Barrett is not only known as a great advertiser as head of the Pan-American union, but also a discoverer. He informed a dinner audience not long since that there had been more peace in South America than elsewhere in the world. I suppose that he was taking up the whole of South America, country by country and showing that in reality they had few wars. South Americans do not regard a little revolution which upsets one ruler and puts another in his place as a war. Mr. Barrett's idea was to disprove the idea that Latin Americans are a warlike race.

Two Powerful Men.

Congressman Simon of Mississippi and Congressman Cox of Indiana were protesting that they had been unable to get certain items in the appropriation bill for their respective districts. "That very fact," remarked Congressman Sherley of Kentucky, "is an evidence that items are not put in the bill as a result of pull because there are no more powerful men in the house than those gentlemen."

Fitzgerald's Inquiry.

The dispute between Republicans and Democrats as to whether the country is in a prosperous condition or going upon the rocks, comes up quite frequently. Leader Underwood got in a rap at Congressman Humphrey of Washington one day and Humphrey insisted on replying. "How long will it take the gentleman from Washington to muddle up things so as to destroy the effect of the letter which has just been read by Mr. Underwood?" asked Fitzgerald. "It will not take long to muddle up the gentleman from New York," was Humphrey's retort.

Trouble Enough.

Senator Smith of South Carolina was endeavoring to find out what would happen to a bill on some subsequent day if something should be done at that particular time. His inquiry was addressed to the vice president, and Mr. Marshall responded. "The chair has trouble enough ruling upon pending questions without passing upon what would be the course in a case suggested for the future."

Of the French troops in Northern Africa in 1912 only one in 3,000 of those inoculated with anti-typhoid serum contracted the disease.

A fellow has to be something of a sprinter to keep pace with his good intentions.

Beauty Doctor Tells Secret

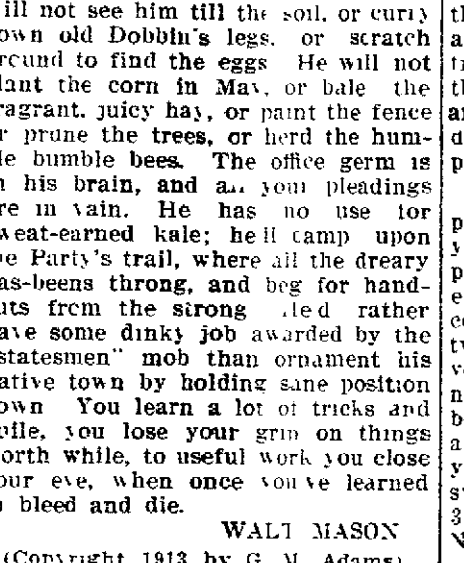

Detroit Beauty Doctor Gives Simple Recipe to Darken Gray Hair and Promote Its Growth.

Miss Alice Whitney, a well-known beauty doctor of Detroit, Mich., recently gave out the following statement: "Anyone can prepare a simple mixture at home, at very little cost, that will darken gray hair, promote its growth and make it soft and glossy. To half a pint of water add 1 oz. of bay rum, a small box of Barbo Compound, and 1-4 oz. of Glycerine. These ingredients can be bought at any drug store at very little cost. Apply to the hair twice a week until the desired shade is obtained. This will make a gray haired person look twenty years younger. It is also fine to promote the growth of the hair, relieve itching scalp diseases, and is excellent for dandruff and falling hair."

Uncle Walt

Office Holding.

A man holds office for a while, and bleeds and dies in flossy style, and then upon a late-fall day he finds he is an also ran—the office job has dumped the man. And does he then stand up his lums and say: "I'll go and chase the coins as in the sunny days gone by, ere I began to bleed and die. Ah, no!" He's done with useful toil; you will not see him till the soil, or currying down old Dobbin's legs, or scratch around to find the eggs. He will not plant the corn in May, or bale the fragrant, juicy hay, or paint the fence or prune the trees, or herd the humble bumble bees. The office germ is in his brain, and all your pleadings are in vain. He has no use for sweat-earned kale; he'll camp upon the Party's trail, where all the dreary has-beens throng, and beg for hand-outs from the strong. Led rather have some dinky job awarded by the "statesmen" mob than ornament his native town by holding same position down. You learn a lot of tricks and guile, you lose your grin on things worth while, to useful work you close your eye, when once you've learned to bleed and die.

OUR HOME WOMEN HAVE BEAUTIFUL HAIR

Next time you go to the theater or to the "movies" just notice, if you please, how many of our home ladies have beautiful hair—glossy, lustrous, and well-dressed. Then, if you will pick out five or ten of those whose hair seems to be particularly pretty and will ask them what they use on it, we feel sure that at least more than half of them will say "Harmony Hair Beautifier." It is fast becoming the rage with both men and women who are particular about the appearance of their hair. Sprinkle a little Harmony Hair Beautifier on your hair each time before brushing it. Contains no oil; will not change color of hair, nor darken gray hair. To keep hair and scalp dandruff free and clean, use Harmony Shampoo. This pure liquid shampoo gives an instantaneous rich lather that immediately penetrates to every part of hair and scalp, insuring a quick, thorough cleansing. Washed off just as quickly, the entire operation takes only a few moments. Contains nothing that can harm the hair; leaves no harshness or stickiness—just a sweet cleanliness. Both preparations come in odd-shaped, very ornamental bottles, with sprinkler tops. Harmony Hair Beautifier, $1.00. Harmony Shampoo, 50c. Contest Editor's Query Column

The Advocate will be glad to answer all legitimate questions regarding the contest through the Contest Editor's query column. Questions may be sent by mail or telephone but the answers will be printed in this column so that no contestant will have any advantage over another.

H 1—You ask if it would be proper for all the members of a family and any friends to join in the solution of the pictures and submit coupons in any two names, for instance one of the children and one of the parents. It is the proper thing for the whole family to join in the solution of the pictures. This is being done in many instances but the coupons in any one set of answers are to be signed by one person. If two or more in one family want to participate they may do so but they must send in separate sets of solutions. Extra coupons may be obtained at this office at any time during the contest. Those desiring to submit more than one answer for different pictures are getting extra coupons while others are getting extra sets for use of different members of the family.

Inquirers—The so-called puzzle experts expect to make some money by the sale of their "probable answers." If you ask them they will no doubt tell you they don't know the real answers but they are offering the pictures daily and are offering what appears to them probable solutions to the pictures. Use your own wits talk to friends and look at the probable answers that are offered without charge just to compare them with your own solutions.

G. D. O.—Ask any of the merchants who are posting "Probable answers" to the Advocate pictures and they will tell you that their answers are simply their judgment of the pictures. They don't know the answers any more than you do. Next time you are down town look at these answers in different windows and compare them with your own but do not place dependence upon any probable answer.

K. K. Toboso—You may use a pencil in filling out the coupons if you wish but it should be a soft pencil so that the writing may be easily read. Remember neatness counts in case of a tie. If you use two coupons for No. 3, for example, you may still use one coupon for number 4 or you may use any number up to and including 5 for any or all the coupons. To make it plainer you may if you wish submit 5 answers to No. 7, 5 answers to No. 6, 3 answers to No. 4, two answers to No. 7, 5 to No. 11, etc., etc.

North End—You are not the only one just starting by a long way. There are others and many of them. If you will come to this office we shall give you a list of 70 books from which the first six pictures were taken. This list was printed in our issue of Feb. 24. It will help you to get started and you can quickly catch up as only a few pictures have been published.

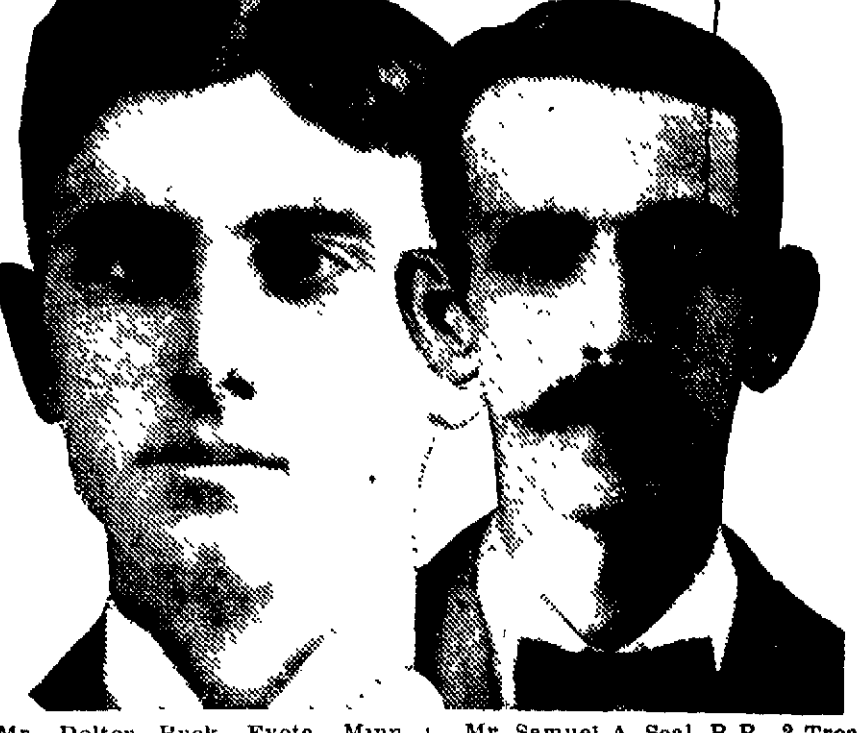

Reader—Our issue of Feb. 24, is entirely exhausted but the picture coupon of that date or any other date during the contest may be obtained by sending to this office. Yes, we have a number of catalogues on hand. Price by mail 27c.

COMBING WON'T RID HAIR OF DANDRUFF

The Easiest and Best Way is to Dissolve It.

The only sure way to get rid of dandruff is to dissolve it, then you destroy it entirely. To do this, get about four ounces of ordinary liquid arvon; apply it at night when retiring; use enough to moisten the scalp and rub it in gently with the finger tips. Do this tonight, and by morning most if not all of your dandruff will be gone, and three or four more applications will completely dissolve and entirely destroy, every single grain and trace of it, no matter how much dandruff you may have. You will find, too, that all itching and digging of the scalp will stop at once, and your hair will be fluffy, lustrous, glossy, silky and soft, and look and feel a hundred times better. If you want to preserve your hair, to by all means get rid of dandruff, for nothing destroys the hair more quickly. It not only starves the hair and makes it fall out, but it makes it stringy, straggly, dull, dry, brittle and lifeless, and everyone notices it. You can get liquid arvon at any drug store. It is inexpensive and never fails to do the work.—Advertisement.

Two Men Find the Same Remedy for Chronic Catarrh.

Mr. Delton Buck, Eyota, Minn., writes: "Finally the catarrh began to effect my eyesight and hearing, and becoming alarmed I wrote to Dr. Hartman. He advised the use of Peruna and salt water eye baths, which advice I followed. I continued the above treatment several months until I was entirely cured, and now after nearly three years, have had no return of the disease. I consider myself permanently cured, and cheerfully recommend Peruna to all those suffering as I did." March, April and May are good months to effectually treat catarrh.

Mr. Samuel A. Seal, R. R., 2 Treadway, Tenn., writes: "It gives me great pleasure to testify to the great good your medicine, Peruna, has done for me in a chronic case of catarrh of the stomach. A friend of mine passing by handed me one of your pamphlets, and seeing how Peruna was recommended for catarrh, I sent to Rogersville, Tenn., for Peruna. After taking it a few days I began to get better. I continued using it until I was able to go to work on the farm again, and now I am in very good health and do work on my farm."

WHAT IS IT? STOMACH UPSET?

Get at the Real Cause—Take Dr. Edward's Olive Tablets.

That's what thousands of stomach sufferers are doing now. Instead of taking tonics, or trying to patch up a poor digestion, they are attacking the real cause of the ailment—clogged liver and disordered bowels. Dr. Edward's Olive Tablets arouse the liver in a soothing, healing way, when the liver and bowels are performing their natural functions, away goes indigestion and stomach troubles. If you have a bad taste in your mouth, tongue coated, appetite poor, lazy, don't-care feeling, no ambition or energy, troubled with undigested food, you should take Olive Tablets, the substitute for calomel. Dr. Edward's Olive Tablets are a purely vegetable compound mixed with olive oil. They will know them by their olive color. They do the work without griping, cramps or pain. Take one or two at bedtime for quick relief, so you can eat what you like. At 10c and 25c per box. The Olive Tablet Company, Columbus, O. All druggists.

And now Abraham Lincoln rose from his seat, stretched his long, bony limbs upward as if to get them into working order, and stood like some solitary pine on a lonely summit, very tall, very dark, very gaunt and very rugged, his swarthy features stamped with a sad serenity, and the instant he began to speak the ungainly mouth lost its heaviness, the half listless eyes attained wondrous power, and the people stood bewildered and breathless under the natural magic of the strangest, most original personality known to the English speaking world since Robert Burns.

There were other very tall and dark men in the heterogeneous assembly, but not one who resembled the speaker. Every movement of his long, muscular frame denoted inflexible earnestness, and a something issued forth, elemental and mystical, that told what the man had been, what he was and what he would do in the future. From "The Valley of Shadows," by Francis Grierson.

Measuring Light Speed.

Even in this speed mad age we can never hope to equal the speed of light, which the scientists tell us is 186,000 miles a second. If light could not actually be measured no one would believe it.

There is a delicate instrument used in measuring light which throws a beam of light upon a revolving disk. There was some doubt about the figures obtained in this way until it was found that when the earth was in the part of its orbit nearest to Jupiter eclipses took place sixteen minutes earlier than when it was in the farthest part, whereas by all rules of astronomy they should have taken place at the same minute each time. It is deduced from this that the light was not instantaneous and consequently took sixteen minutes to traverse the diameter of the earth's orbit, a distance of about 200,000,000 miles, thus giving to light a velocity of 186,000 miles a second, which was accurately shown later by other experiments.—Exchange.

The Taste For Salt.

Concerning the African craving for salt, Livingstone gives interesting testimony. Only the rich among Bakwans could afford to buy it, and the poor suffered from indigestion for lack of it. Native doctors accordingly made salt a usual ingredient of their medicine, and Livingstone successfully gave sufferers spoonfuls of neat salt. But now comes a notable point. "Either milk or meat had the same effect, though not so rapidly, as salt. Long afterward, when I was myself deprived of salt for four months at two distinct periods, I felt no desire for that condiment, but I was plagued by very great longing for the above articles of food. This continued as long as I was confined to an exclusively vegetable diet, and when I procured a meal of flesh, though boiled in perfectly fresh rain water, it tasted as pleasantly saltish as if slightly impregnated with that condiment."—London Standard.

So Easy!

"While I was in Berlin last summer," said the globe trotter, "I stopped with an artist friend for the season. One day the artist's wife had been showing the sights of the town to a solemn viager cousin. The artist was in his room when the ladies returned from their tour and was so very busy with his work he did not look up. The cousin looked on in silence, and when my artist friend had finished his drawing she said:

"Oh, Mr. Jones, I never even imagined that drawing was so easy!"

"Which reminds me of a story they tell of Joachim, the famous violinist. One day he watched the skaters from his window until he decided that he would try it himself. The attendant after strapping the skates endeavored to show the distinguished musician how to strike out, first with one foot and then with the other. Legs got tangled, and Joachim shot into a grotesque sprawl.

"Ya, ya, ya!" exclaimed the attendant as he assisted the famous violinist to his feet. "It is not quite so easy as playing the fiddle. Yes?"—New York Sun.

Queer People of Papua.

In the Girara country, Papua, a district of New Guinea, where the country is almost entirely submerged, the natives are said to claim descent from the dog. They possess five totems, which are drawn on all their houses. Their villages are erected on hillocks so as to be clear of the water, and the people of each village inhabit one large, common house, sometimes as much as 400 to 500 feet long and 60 to 80 feet in width. The center of this huge building is a kind of common hall, which is used only by the men, while the walls of the structure are divided into cubicles. In three or four floors, access to which is gained by means of ladders. The women are not allowed to enter the building by the same door as the men. A great deal of sorcery prevails in the western division. In the wilder parts of the country the chief is himself a head sorcerer. He claims to be able to separate his spirit from his body and to send it on various missions, including that of killing people.

Jackal Flies of India.

There are certain East Indian flies, several varieties of them apparently of similar type to our own house fly. Musca domestica, that have developed a rather ingenious, if somewhat disreputable, way of making a living. This is the story told by Captains Patton and Craig in the Indian Journal of Medical Research. The proboscis of these flies is soft and not suitable for piercing the skin of man or the lower animals. So they hang around some one of the several types of biting flies, and when the latter pierces the skin of a victim they crowd him away and use the incision for feeding themselves. If the biter happens to be too large or fierce thus to be driven from his prey, the fly jackals wait until he is finished and then take his place. In view of these observations it seems quite possible that the so called no-biting flies may play a hitherto unsuspected role in the transmission of disease.

Arithmetic Justice.

Rough and ready justice in Mexico in the days of President Diaz is illustrated by the following story: In a lonely part of the south a train had been robbed by the inhabitants of a certain village. The president told a young officer to take his company and "put an end to that sort of thing." The young officer had every house searched. Almost all contained stolen property. He then marshaled the villagers, picked out every fortieth man and had him shot. After this he said: "I am taking my troops away, but if any more train robberies take place we shall come back and shoot every twentieth man. Should it be necessary to return again, every tenth man will be executed."

No more trains were attacked.

The Indiscriminate Phrase.

"What's this?" exclaimed the sensational editor. "Story about a woman who put a few people to considerable trouble," said the reporter. "But you haven't identified her." "We couldn't learn her name." "What difference does that make? Not knowing her name would not prevent you from referring to her as a prominent society woman, would it?"—Spokane Review.

A Different Animal.

In the census office at Washington acts against the law are recorded under a few main heads, such as murder, burglary, etc. A lady who was working there ran across the crime, "Running a Blind Tiger." After a puzzled moment she placed it under the list, "Cruelty to Animals."—Lippincott's.

MRS. A. M. HOLMES IS 91 YEARS OF AGE

Mrs. A. M. Holmes, formerly of Brownsville, now making her home with her daughter Mrs. W. R. Osbourne at Baltimore, O., celebrated her 91st birthday Feb. 16. Her daughters, Mrs. L. B. Sparks and Mrs. C. L. Hesse, of Columbus, and grandchildren Dr. E. P. Sparks and wife and son Edward of Basil, and Miss Stella Kreeger of Gratiot spent the day with her. A pleasing feature of the occasion was a cake presented by Mrs. Hesse with 91 candles and the dates 1823-1914.

Mrs. Holmes also received many post cards from her many Brownsville friends for which she returns thanks for their remembrances of her. It has certainly made another bright milestone in her life.

Attempt Made to Repudiate Purchase of Bridge Bonds By Seasongood & Mayer Firm

The firm of Seasongood & Mayer of Cincinnati, bond buyers, is attempting to repudiate their purchase of the $30,000 bridge bonds, sold by the County Commissioners Tuesday afternoon, but the attempt will be strenuously opposed by the board of commissioners, who will hold the firm to its plain obligations.

The sale was a bona fide one on the part of the officials, and any attempt to get away from the results or squirm out of the purchase will be resisted.

The Cincinnati house entered in open competition, the sealed bid was received with those from eight other prospective buyers, and was opened at the same time. The bid was made from the same specifications sent to all, and was the highest received, offering a premium of $1,336. A motion was regularly carried, and the bonds awarded to Seasongood & Mayer.

That was all there was to it, and the commissioners notified the successful bidders by telegraph. In reply they received word that the bid was a "mistake" which was made in the Cincinnati office, and "explained" as follows:

The $1,336 was a premium to be offered on another issue of $60,000, and in a list was immediately under the bid for the Licking county issue. A clerk in taking the bids off, took the premium of $1,336 and put it in the envelope with the issue of $30,000 for this county, and mailed it.

BONDS REPUDIATED.

Defiance, March 4.—Seasongood & Mayer of Cincinnati, who were awarded the municipal $30,000 refunding bond issue last Friday, notified the city council Tuesday night that they have rejected the bonds because of irregularly contained therein. Council has taken no action.

"There never was a woman who did not gab about her neighbors," growled Mr. Gabb.

"I hope he is, but from the way it sounds I don't think so."—Washington Star.

CROSS, FEVERISH, SICK CHILDREN NEED "CALIFORNIA SYRUP OF FIGS"

Look Mother! See if the tongue is coated which denotes sluggish liver and bowels.

Your child isn't naturally cross and peevish. See if tongue is coated; this is a sure sign its little stomach, liver and bowels need a cleansing at once. When listless, pale, feverish, full of cold, breath bad, throat sore, doesn't eat, sleep or act naturally, has sour stomach, diarrhoea, remember a gentle liver and bowel cleansing should always be the first treatment given. Nothing equals "California Syrup of Figs" for children's ills. Give a teaspoonful and in just a few hours all the foul waste, sour bile and fermenting food, clogged in the bowels, passes out of the system and you have a well and playful child again. All children love this harmless fruit laxative and it never fails to effect a good "inside" cleansing. Directions for babies, children of all ages and grown-ups are plainly on each bottle. Mother, keep it handy in your home. A little given today saves a sick child tomorrow, but get the genuine. Ask your druggist for a 50-cent bottle of "California Syrup of Figs." Then look and see that it is made by the "California Fig Syrup Company." We make no cheaper size. Don't be fooled.

Laborer and Wage Earner Who Owns His Own Home Benefited By New Plan

It is a good thing for a city as well as a firm or an individual to pause at some time and take an inventory of assets and liabilities, so to speak. To allow a careful retrospect to be the basis for a calm, fearless look into the future, with a due regard to the instrumentalities of the present. Then the part of prudence suggests the formation of plans to make the future better, more successful and more nearly approaching a high ideal which should always be the ultimate aim.

This time has arrived for Newark, and the men who have in hand the work of the Newark Board of Trade deeply realize it.

But it is thought that the average citizen cannot, or at least does not, fully realize the situation, and it is to bring these facts home to every one, that public appeal is made, with facts and arguments that it is thought cannot be controverted. The new Board of Trade will not deal with glittering generalities, but real and concrete instances of fact.

Just for instance. Fifteen or less years ago the tax duplicate of Newark city approximated $3,000,000. It is at present close to $23,000,000, or an increase of nearly 200 per cent.

The county auditor's books show an almost incredible increase of property in Licking county and one-third of it is in Newark city. The figures follow:

Decennial appraisement, 1900, $30,000,000.

Decennial appraisement, 1910—$80,000,000, increase $50,000,000.

Appraisement 1912—$55,810,000, an increase in three years of $5,000,000.

This is acknowledged to be a point of congratulation, especially that under the new system of valuation even a greater proportion of increase will be shown.

Another fact that probably is not generally appreciated by the public is one of the greatest importance. Newark is pre-eminently a city of wage-earners, with the wealth more widely and equitably distributed than in most cities. There are few very wealthy men, and hundreds of the successful middle class, independent, industrious and happy. It is safe to say that eighty per cent of this city's population is included in this class, while the percentage of very rich or very poor is correspondingly small.

Of the former, it is a matter of easy demonstration, to prove that a most gratifying proportion have saved their earnings and invested it safely and permanently in real estate. They own their homes, take interest and pride in their up-keep with the result that their value has and is increasing with the growth and prosperity of the city.

The proportion who live in rented homes is comparatively very small, when set against those who are small property owners.

Now by a clear and irresistible process of reasoning, any movement that has for its object the location of new factories should be encouraged, fostered and given the unqualified support of these workers for whom the success of the project means so much. It is almost an axiom to state the simple process of arriving at this conclusion.

If new factories locate in Newark it is certain that more wages will be earned, the merchants' sales will be increased by the greater amount of money spent, the laborers' earnings can be safely invested in real estate, homes will be built, those already here can be improved, and this prosperity will be noticeable all along the line, and Newark will indeed be a city of factory buildings with its inevitable accompaniment of home building.

The new plan of the Board of Trade has this in view as its principal objects, the safeguarding of the investments of the wage earners, and the widening of his opportunity for an increased value of his home and a chance to make further safe and profitable investments.

It is the co-operation of these that is urged and confidently expected.

Theaters

"The Streets of New York."

"The Streets of New York," which ran for 300 nights in New York City at the Academy of Music, is billed as the feature photoplay at the Auditorium for next Sunday, matinee and night. This play has thrilled millions, and, aside from being sensational drama, it is educational to those who have never seen the real metropolis of the United States, and even to those who have never seen this city, for it shows different localities, as well as conditions unknown to the outer world.

The press all over the country has heartily endorsed it as being a photo-play out of the ordinary.

"The Shepherd of the Hills." Harold Bell Wright, the most popular American novelist, with the assistance of Elsbeth W. Reynolds, has dramatized his most widely read novel, "The Shepherd of the Hills." The first local presentation of this dramatization will take place at the Auditorium next Saturday, matinee and night. It is a heart-stirring and a wholesome story and one that breathes the simple life of the mountains and the pasture, but yet sets forth human passions, ambitious endeavors, failures and successes. A story that should be even greater as a drama than as a novel.

"Way Down East." The fact that like old wine, "Way Down East," improves from year to year, and grows dearer every season to playgoers, was never more apparent than now. Any theatergoer tired of mere modern offerings and wanting a whiff of good, country air, and a dash of homely country life, cannot invest his money better than by buying a ticket for the famous play.

Profligate have been the arguments and many reasons given for the abiding success and apparently inexhaustible popularity of the piece, for never as yet has any one been able to shake its grasp upon the affections of the playgoers, of whatever turn of mind and season after season for eighteen years, it has filled the theaters to overflowing, and the same charm lingers and the pictures of New England rural life are appealing as ever.

The famous play comes to the Auditorium, next Monday, matinee and night. A bargain matinee is announced, prices 25c and 50c. Night prices 25c and $1.00.

"The Rosary."

"The Rosary," a play of the highest merit, needs no introduction to the Newark public, as it has pleased several audiences heretofore. But it returns this time with the original cast intact. Telling a story of truth, devotion, and faith practiced by the priests of the Catholic church. Father Brian Kelly, the leading character portrays a man whose thoughts and deeds entirely change any evil thrown in his way to the real, and only life truth. Coming as it does during Lent is the most appropriate play for the season. It will be seen Tuesday, March 10th, at the Auditorium.

Hartman Theater.

Gracious Little Christie MacDonald, whose name has never been identified with any musical work that did not prove to be a delight to her hearers, will be at the Hartman Theater, Columbus, in "Sweethearts," a new comic opera that New York's theater lovers demanded for a record-making half-season and Chicago acclaimed as the best for years on March 10, 11.

$10 TROUSERS FINE PRIZE IN CONTEST

Now, Mr. Man, how would you like this prize—a pair of $10.00 trousers made to order at W. C. Christian & Sons? It surely listens good—and if your wife wins this prize she will be willing for you to wear them—just so they are in the family—you will be in line for them.

The Advocate has purchased of W. C. Christian & Sons, the well known custom tailors at 3 South Third street, a pair of $10 trousers to be made to order, and you can have your choice of any goods in the house. The new spring patterns are coming in every day and it will be well to have your eye on them, so you can make a choice quickly if this No. 69 prize falls to you.

W. C. Christian, senior member of the firm, has been identified with the tailoring trade since 1861, and the present firm of W. C. Christian & Sons has been in business since the year 1887, making it the oldest firm without change of partners in the city.

Attention to all the details that go to produce first class workmanship, honorable dealings with their patrons, is the reason for the success of this firm.

Fred Christian, junior member, has taken a course of designing and cutting, under instructions of one of the best custom tailor cutters in the city of Columbus, and has had marked success in modern tailor fitting of garments. Every member is a practical journeyman tailor, and both Frank and Fred Christian carry union cards in the Journeyman Tailors Union of America.

A Tip to the Poets.

His (Richard Hovey's) voice was admirable, sonorous and colorful, and he used it excellently whether to read or recite. It was a novelty to editors, when they asked him to submit a poem, to have him ask "Perhaps you'd like this?" Forthwith he would recite the poem he had to offer, not faltering in a line and bringing out the thought and feeling of it all magically, as we read the first poets gave their soul to rapt listeners. In case the poem happened to be unsuitable for the purpose Hovey would smile unperturbed and proceed to recite his second choice. If the poem were accepted on his recital he would go back to his apartment to write out a copy of it and send it to the editor. — Richard Duffy in Bookman.

THOUSAND CARS TURNED OUT DAILY AT FORD PLANT

Detroit, Mich., March 4.—Lubrication and sanitation take on a new significance when applied to a plant that turns out approximately a thousand cars a day and employs about 16,000 men. With the Ford Motor company these two necessities involve an extraordinary amount of material and labor. For example, there are 300 men, a force large enough to run many a factory, in the main Ford plant at Highland Park, Detroit, who do nothing but scrub. These men are employed in three shifts of eight hours each seven days a week. Their work is the main feature of the labor necessary to keep the Ford plant tidy.

When the average person thinks of lubrication, he naturally thinks of oil. However a great deal of the lubrication at the Ford plant is achieved with good old soft soap and water. That is to say, the work of grinding machines, for example, is conducted with a cutting compound the main ingredients of which are soft soap and water. The factory uses 6,000 gallons of this compound daily. It is made from 2,500 pounds of soft soap, 250 gallons of oil and 5,500 gallons of water. It is cooked with steam in three tanks each having a capacity of 300 gallons. There are five miles of pipes used to convey this cutting compound through the factory.

The Advocate has bought a 1914 model Ford car to be given as second prize in the Booklovers' contest now running in this newspaper. One may enter the contest now by getting at this office the few pictures that have already been printed. No entrance fee.

Let Us Play Fair.

The writer has been a user of natural gas since the city was first piped and has a small permanent investment in the first test well, and I cannot recall a time in all these years when the mercury was down to zero, that we have not had a low gas pressure. I had a coal grate, a good big one, and many a night the house was full of neighbors to get warm. The buyer was a gas man, and if he was not goose enough to dose it up, he is probably toasting his shins by that grate these cold nights.

But the kick now coming is also about the price. The company says it cannot and will not sell gas for the same price it did twenty-five years ago; that it can get more money for it elsewhere. And we know it can. What would you do if you owned it? I know, so don't lie, and the council and the prosecutor do not always know the will of the people. Are not all of the council that voted on the 25 cent proposition relegated to private life? The only fair way, I think, would be a vote—consumers only—25 cents or no gas, and the result would be to keep the gas. J. M. M.

Actors in China.

Music as a profession is not now regarded as wholly reputable, but it is common to hear men singing snatches of theater songs as they go along the streets or country lanes, and amateur instrumentalists are many both among the poor and the better educated classes. We listened once, almost entranced, to a boatman on the inner waters of the Chekiang province declaiming with clear, strong voice and tube and rhythm for more than an hour at night a poem of short cantos in praise of Buddha. * * * It is a common thing at Peking, the chief home of actors, to see a man standing with his face against the city wall and yelling like one demented. He is an actor practicing his part and strengthening his voice.—Moule's "The Chinese People."

An Easy Solution.

"How does the breakfast suit you, John?" Inquired the young bride anxiously.

"It's just right, dearest," said her husband. "It may be plebeian, but I'm awfully fond of calves' liver for breakfast."

"So am I, dear," said the wife. "Oh, John, don't you think it would pay us to keep a calf? Then we could have liver every morning for breakfast."—Ladies' Home Journal.

COMMISSION IS INVESTIGATING CONTRIBUTIONS

(ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAM)
Columbus, March 4.—The sum of $1,320 was collected from the state officials and civil service employees during the last two weeks of January, and used to pay debts of the state administration press bureau, according to testimony given by Adjutant General George H. Wood and Emory W. Lattanner, state superintendent of banks and banking, in the state civil service commission's investigation of alleged violations of the civil service law, today.

The commission's investigation was started within a little more than an hour after Judge C. M. Rogers of the Franklin county common pleas court, modified the injunction order granted yesterday to allow the commission to proceed with its investigation providing it did not conflict with the grand jury's investigation, which also started today.

About a score of state employees, particularly from the state treasury and adjutant general's departments were called before the Franklin county grand jury today to testify concerning solicitation of funds, among them for political activity in violation of the new civil service law.

Mr. Lattanner testified he and Jas. A. Devine, superintendent of the state building and loan department, had been leaders in collecting the money from heads of different state departments, and that the money was intended solely for the press bureau, and not for the treasury of the Democratic state organization. Both he and General Wood declared they did not consider the press bureau an adjunct of the Democratic organization, but rather a "literary bureau" maintained for the purpose of acquainting citizens of the state with what the state departments are doing.

William L. Finley, Democratic state chairman, is head of the press bureau.

The commission expected to call Merle Goler, chief clerk in the state banking department and William C. Archer, secretary of the industrial commission this afternoon.

Emory W. Lattanner, superintendent of banks and banking, when called to the witness stand, said he never solicited contributions for political purposes from any state employees under classified civil service. He said he had received only $40 from William C. Archer, secretary of the industrial commission, and later gave this to Merle Goler, chief clerk in his department. He denied receiving any money from General Wood.

Explaining his connection with the Democratic press bureau and its maintenance, he said:

The literary bureau takes about $5,000 a year to keep it running. I talked to Mr. Finley last fall and told him I would be glad to contribute to keep it going. Some time ago he told me the bureau was in debt. Jas. A. Devine, superintendent of the building and loan department, called on General Wood and told him a note for $300 had been given and would be due about the last of January for the support of the literary bureau. This note was signed by three members of the administration.

Mr. Lattanner said he impressed all officials he was not soliciting a compulsory assessment. He said he and Mr. Devine also called on S. E. Strode and A. P. Sandles of the agricultural commission, J. H. Seacrest of the liquor licensing board, Wallace P. Yaple, president of the industrial commission, John A. Miller, superintendent of public works, William A. Marker, secretary of that department, and Price Russell, executive secretary to Governor Cox.

Reading For Boys.

Our young barbarians are primitive beings. Life is to them a picture theater of physical activities. Action is all. They would rather sail a boat or kick a ball than read a book, and when they are cajoled into reading by a flaming wrapper or a color plate it is not for ideas or aesthetic impressions. As Stevenson said long ago, "Eloquence and thought, character and conversation were but obstacles to brush aside as we dug blithely after a certain sort of incident, like a pig for truffles." Not for potatoes or other homely food; to the boy the merely real spells dullness: "A day of my life at school" is simply boring. The healthy boy hungers and thirsts for incidents and situations outside his experience, so ardently indeed that he will weave into the sad texture of ordinary things the bright hues of threads of romance.—Herbert Strang in T. P.'s Weekly, London.

Coining a Word.

Nothing could be more fallacious than the common notion that whatever the dictionary says is right. Every one of them contains much that is not right. Worcester, for instance, had a word, "phantomnation," defined as meaning "illusion," which was copied from the cranky work of a man named Jodrell, who presented as one word every two word phrase not, according to his idea, in regular grammatical construction. He had made the word from Pope's line "The phantom nations of the dead" and credited it to Pope. His obsession led to many other ridiculous perversions of language. The one mentioned was repeated in each work printed before 1890, when it was dropped.—Chicago Record-Herald.

Not Inoculated.

During a session of the supreme court of Maine a tedious and complicated suit had well nigh exhausted the patience of counsel on both sides. One of the lawyers engaged was a certain Appleton, said to be the wittiest lawyer in all New England.

Opposing him was a lawyer of pompous mien and much avoirdupois, who committed blunder after blunder, until even the judge became irritated. After the commission of a particularly aggravating error this lawyer said:

"I beg your honor's pardon, but that was another mistake. I seem to be inoculated with dullness today."

"Inoculated, brother?" asked Appleton. "Why, I thought you had it in the natural way."—Lippincott's.

Pugilistic English.

The teacher was instructing the class in the rudiments of the English language.

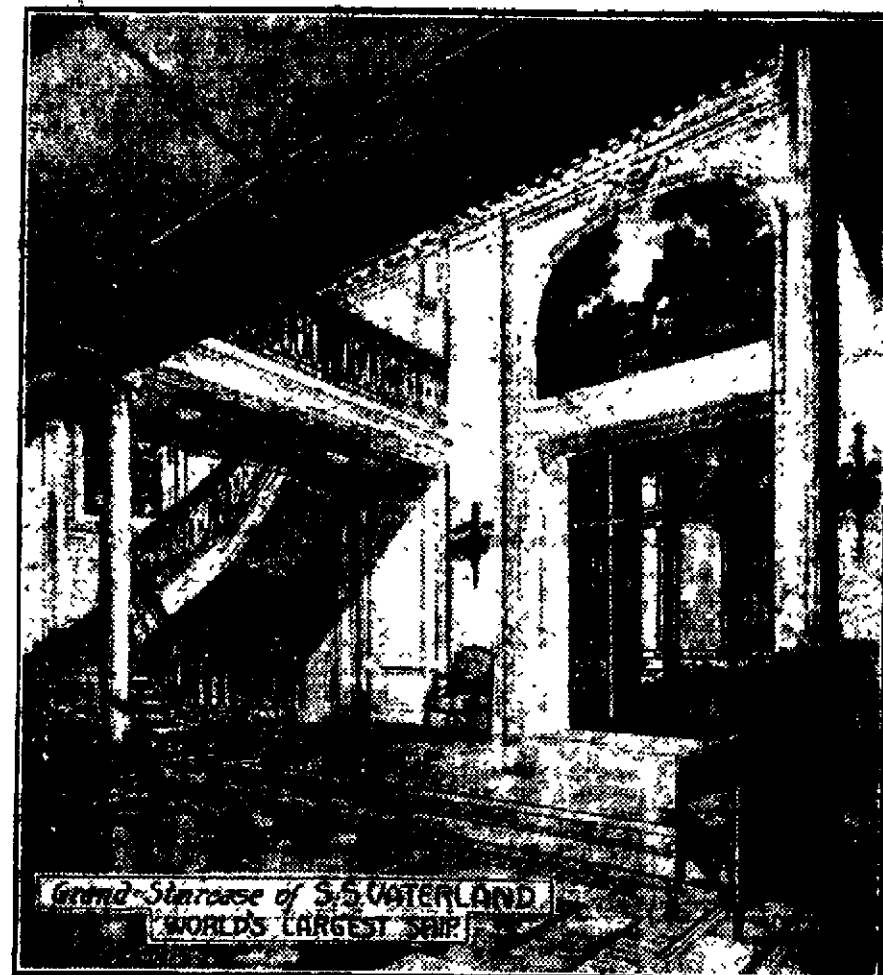

"John," she said, "make a sentence using the word 'indisposition.'"

John, who was evidently of a pugilistic turn of mind, assumed an aggressive pose and announced: "When youse wants to fight you stands in dis position."—Youth's Companion.

Capital.

"Let me illustrate the difference between capital and labor," said the rich uncle to the impetuous nephew. "Suppose I give you $5." "That's capital," replied the nephew, extending his hand for the money.—London Telegraph.

No detail of the steamship Vaterland, the world's largest ship, gives a more striking impression of her enormous dimensions than her grand staircase. Several decks are connected by broad flights of stairs which will accommodate the population of this floating city without inconvenience. The staircase is, of course, supplemented by a number of electric elevators running through all of the nine passenger decks. In her general lines and the luxury of her appointments the Vaterland resembles her sister ship, the Imperator. The Vaterland measures 950 feet in length, 100 feet in beam and is of 58,000 tons burden. The Imperator, which is 52,000 tons burden, is in turn 5,000 tons larger than any other ship in the world. The Vaterland will sail for New York on her maiden cruise June 4th and will thereafter, with the Imperator, maintain a regular schedule.
